I desire to call the attention of the City Council to the rights of the various electric-lighting, telephone, and telegraph companies in the streets, and the constant necessity of disturbing the pavements for the purpose of repairs, connections, etc., and to suggest the desirability of grouping these different systems together in one conduit, for the better preservation of our street surfaces. There were issued from this office last year 9,670 permits for street openings.

Within the past few years a wave of public sentiment, extending over the whole country, has called for better roads and pavements.

In the State of New York the Governor makes it a leading subject in his inaugural address, and the city of New York has, within the year, by an appropriation of five millions of dollars, taken active measures towards bringing its pavements to that condition which becomes a wealthy and intelligent community.

The wave seems to have reached our own city ; possibly it may have originated here, and, gathering force as it went, culminated in results at other points, while we have not progressed beyond the stage which is content with a discussion of the subject.

The first step toward the accomplishment of a public improvement is to awaken the interest of the community in it ; that this has been thoroughly aroused in our midst in the matter of improved pavements is shown by the fact that our local clubs discuss the subject, professors deliver courses of lectures upon it, people talk about it, and to the press it furnishes a perennial subject for comment and criticism.

Public discussion is good, but the means are what are wanted now ; it is time for the wave of public sentiment to break, and for our citizens and the press to realize that better pavements can be had whenever the means for their construction are provided.

It is a fact beyond controversy that the annual appropriations for the Paving Department have not, for several years, been sufficient for the work in hand, and while our street mileage has been increasing on the average five miles yearly, the annual appropriations have almost as constantly been reduced. This is clearly shown in City Document 127, page 3.

With such conditions, can any other results than deteriorated pavements be expected ?

The total public street mileage to-day is four hundred and four miles ; to put these in condition to satisfy the requirements of a discriminating public, and to meet the constantly increasing demands for new edgestone, brick sidewalks, cross-walks, etc., will require the expenditure of, at least, a million and a half of dollars annually for a series of years.

The whole force of the department has been kept steadily employed, when the weather was suitable, up to the present time.

All the ledges are being worked, and eight stone-crushers are now in operation in different sections of the city, preparing crushed stone for use on the streets the coming season. This will put the department in excellent condition to perform efficient service when the new financial year opens ; the men can then be put upon the streets instead of being sent to the ledges, as was rendered necessary last year through lack of a supply of stone.

During the year our plant has been improved by the purchase of two new steam road-rollers, with pick attachment, two new stone-crushers and engines, and two new street-sweeping machines.

The last is an innovation in this department, and has been found to give such good results in the saving of labor on macadamized streets as to warrant the purchase of more of them at an early day. With this improved plant, and the well-organized force now in the employ of the department, I feel confident that much better results will be obtained during the coming year, than in that which has passed.

Respectfully submitted,

J. EDWIN JONES,

Superintendent of Streets.
